Welcome to a plan for Barnham Cross

Hello. We want to share what Barnham Cross residents have told us over the past few years and give you the chance to keep telling us more.

These boards show how residents' feedback is helping to shape the plans that look to improve green and shared spaces, create better parking, remove under-used garages, and provide new homes across the estate.

Below is the vision for Barnham Cross, developed with residents in 2022 and refreshed in 2025. The vision continues to guide the project and help shape positive change for the future of the estate.

A plan for Barnham Cross

Here is a map of the proposed plan for the Barnham Cross Estate that has been shaped with your input and from listening to you feedback. Take a look at how we have listened to you:

You said: the estate should be one-way traffic

We have: designed a new one-way lane

You said: cars drive too fast around the estate and want to see traffic calming methods

We have: proposed speed ramps throughout

You said: you want the green spaces around the estate to be protected

We have: focussed the build of new homes on the existing garage sites

You said: you wanted to see more play spaces

We have: proposed areas for play that we want you to have a say on

You said: you want less cars parking on the pavements and grass

We have: proposed three new parking courts and additional parking areas

You said: you'd like improvements to the green spaces such as seating and planting

We have: picked areas to improve the landscape, and want to hear more from you on how you'd like this to happen

You said: new homes should be affordable to run and have gardens

We have: included a back garden in every new home and are looking at cost-saving and environmentally friendly options such as solar panels

Getting around and public spaces

We want to know what routes you to get around the estate and how you travel – is it on foot, by bus, by car, by bicycle or something else?

We also want to know how you currently use different spaces around the estate.
